

machCon GmbH is a moderately growing consulting firm that serves national and international large and medium-sized customers in a wide range of industries, particularly healthcare and life science industries, with their demanding quality and regulatory requirements. Our clients are loyal to us because of our unique skillsets and our ability to adapt to new work environments fast.

We are managing projects, analyzing businesses, and taking care of IT Security on highest levels and we offer trainings on complex subjects and targeted coaching's of managers.

Take this opportunity. We look forward to receiving your detailed application by e-mail to contact@machcon.ch.

We are looking for a
Cloud Consultant (m/f)

Key Responsibilities

- Create proposals for automation framework enhancements and present them to the client. Discuss them and implement the automation framework accordingly.
 - Review and analyze the requirements shared by relevant stakeholders and design the solution accordingly.
 - User management of cloud services.
 - Portal delivery service, query service, monitoring and alerting.
 - Consult the team on cloud subjects and technologies.
 - Support existing customers with regard to the machCon GmbH consulting offer.
-

Your Profile

- Practical experience with the implementation of a cloud strategy.
 - Certification in the areas of cloud security or AWS is an advantage.
 - Experience in the optimization of existing cloud solutions.
 - Experience in Azure automation.
 - Strong understanding of Microsoft .NET technologies.
 - Hands on experience on Infrastructure as Code (IaC) and configuration management tools.
 - Working knowledge on Azure IaaS & Azure PaaS Solutions.
 - Experience in creating reports & dashboards in PowerBI from various data sources.
 - Basic understanding of ITIL process & basic networking concepts.
 - Experience with the regulated environment of the healthcare industry.
 - Proactive personality, strategic mind, able to manage multiple tasks.
 - You share our values such as commitment, openness and integrity.
 - Fluent in English language; German language skills desired.
-

We offer

- A diversified consulting activity in an interesting and international customer environment with strategically relevant customer projects.
- The opportunity to develop further and take on responsibility.
- A professional consulting environment together with a young, highly committed team in a moderately growing company.
- Above-average opportunities for further training, a performance-related salary, and extensive additional benefits.